Water District Engineer's Report

The Board of Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) moved one step closer to setting an election on the New Los Padres Water Supply Project today with the receipt of the Draft Engineer's Report and the Addendum-2 to the Final Environmental Impact Report (EIR) on the project.

Both documents will be finalized by August 7, 1995 when the MPWMD board is scheduled to formally set the ballot measure for the proposed new dam and reservoir on the Carmel River. The vote is scheduled for November 7, 1995.

Draft Engineer's Report

Based on recent engineering and cost studies, the Draft Engineer's Report describes the proposed project, the properties to be acquired, and provides a map of the benefit zone. The report also updates project cost estimates and costs to customers, provides financing information, and describes the election process.

The estimated project capital cost is $99.3 million, with annual operating expenses estimated at $2.0 million per year (in 1995 dollars). These costs include the dam, reservoir, fish passage facilities, access roads, land acquisition and extensive mitigation measures to address fish, vegetation, wildlife, cultural resources, construction and other concerns. Costs also include final design, construction management/administration and a 20 percent contingency fund.

Due to inflation and other factors, the capital cost would rise to an estimated $110 million in the year 2000 (the assumed midpoint of construction); the annual expense would be $2.6 million starting the year 2001 (the assumed first year of operation).

If approved by voters in November 1995, user fees to fund the project would begin in January 1996 to pay for final design and the revenue bond. Assuming a 30-year bond with a 7.40% interest rate, and 100 acre feet per year of new water connections, the estimated increased cost on the Cal-Am water bill would be .85 cents per water unit used. One unit of water use equals 100 cubic feet or 748 gallons.

This would result in an increased water bill of $5.53 per month ($11.06 per two-month Cal-Am bill) for the average single family home in local cities that uses 6.5 units of water per month, and $9.86 per month ($19.72 per two-month billing period) for the average larger, landscaped home in the unincorporated area that uses 11.6 units of water per month. Individuals can multiply the number of units of water on their Cal-Am bill times 85 cents to estimate how the project would affect their water bill. These 1996 costs would increase with inflation. Addendum-2 to Final EIR

The Addendum-2 to the Final EIR summarizes environmental information that has been developed or been refined since the Final EIR was certified by the MPWMD board on September 19, 1994. The document provides an update on permits needed for the dam and focuses on how to reduce construction effects on the Cachagua community. The Final EIR will be recertified again on August 7, 1995.

The MPWMD board determined to voluntarily circulate the Addendum-2 for 45 days to encourage public participation in the environmental review process for the proposed project. Distribution to public agencies, libraries and local groups involved in water resources issues will begin on May 16. Comments will be due on July 5, 1995.

Individuals who wish to have their own copy of the document may purchase it from the District for the cost of printing (about $7 per copy) plus postage.

The New Los Padres Water Supply Project is proposed to provide drought protection, water for planned growth and adequate streamflow to protect the Carmel River environment, thereby preserving the community's ability to continue to draw from the Carmel Valley area, our primary source of water.

Water District's Meeting Summary

Following is a recap of the issues covered during the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District Board meeting of May 17, 1995.

1. Second Reading and Adoption of Ordinance No. 76--Providing for Delay Payment of Connection Fees and Charges by California Non-Profit Public Benefit Corporations: Ordinance No. 76 was adopted by the Board on a vote of 4-3, and goes into effect on June 26, 1995. The ordinance allows non-profit permit applicants to defer payment of the District's connection charge if the applicant can demonstrate extreme hardship in paying the fees. The applicant would apply to the Board of Directors for a determination. Following approval, a deed restriction would be placed on the property, with the consent of the property owner, indicating that sale or a change of use of the property would require immediate payment of all unpaid permits fees together with deferred interest. The interest rate will be set by the Board when the permit is issued. Provisions outlined in Ordinance No. 76 are intended to be used only when there exists a substantial hardship to the project proponent with the assessment of full fees and charges due in obtaining the water permit that could jeopardize development of the project. For more information, contact the District office at 649-2500.

2. Receive Draft Engineer's Report on the New Los Padres Water Supply Project: The Board of Directors received the Draft Engineer's Report and authorized staff to distribute copies to the jurisdictions. The report provides a description of the project, the properties proposed to be acquired, the zone of benefit, estimated project costs and project financing. A projection of the possible increase in monthly water bills for each jurisdiction is included. The final report will be considered by the Board on August 7, 1995. On that date, the Board will also conduct a public hearing on the project as it is described in the Engineer's Report, approve establishment of Benefit Zone No. 6, and adopt language for the November 7, 1995 ballot measure on the proposed dam and reservoir. It is important that each jurisdiction makes a determination on participation in Benefit Zone No. 6, the improvement zone for the New Los Padres Water Supply Project, prior to August 7, 1995. For more information, contact Andy Bell at the District office, 649-4866.

3. Receive Addendum-2 to Final Environmental Impact Report on the Monterey Peninsula Water Supply Project: The Addendum-2 to the Final EIR on the Monterey Peninsula Long-Term Water Supply Project was received by the Board. It will be circulated for 45 days to encourage public participation in the environmental review process for the proposed project. Written comments will be due on July 5, 1995. The Addendum-2 summarizes the environmental information that has been developed or refined since the Final EIR was certified by the MPWMD Board on September 19, 1994. The document provides an update on permits needed for the dam and focuses on how to reduce construction effects on the Cachagua community. Distribution of the Addendum-2 began on May 16. Please contact the District office if you would like a copy. The Final EIR will be recertified again on August 7, 1995.

4. Authorize Memorandum of Agreement between the City of Seaside and the MPWMD regarding Water Supply to the Fort Ord Area and Development of Water Supply for the Monterey Peninsula Water Resources System: At the request of the City of Seaside, this item was deferred to the June 19, 1995 board meeting. The Memorandum of Agreement was developed at the request of the City of Seaside. It defines responsibilities regarding water supply for the Fort Ord area within the MPWMD boundaries.

5. Receive Report on Monitoring and Evaluation Program-Paralta Well: In 1994, three monitoring wells were installed in the Seaside basin on Fort Ord. Measurements taken from the monitor wells will indicate how production from the Paralta well affects the flow of water through the Seaside aquifer. Using the information, staff will analyze the potential for either increasing production from the Paralta well or constructing a new production well in the Seaside aquifer. The Paralta well has been under full operation for only eight weeks. Staff must collect

Artists Needed

The cultural Council for Monterey County is currently accepting applications from visual, performing and literary artists who are interested in becoming part of the Professional Artists in the Schools Program during the 1995-96 school year.

They are seeking artists who are willing to design and provide hands-on projects in their fields of expertise to school children throughout Monterey County in a classroom setting. The artist will be paid on a contract basis--$300 for each 12 hour classroom project, plus expenses.

They are looking for artists interested in providing projects in a classroom setting and/or to participate in an assemblies and lecture demonstrations program.

Projects may be submitted in drama, sculpture, weaving, painting, poetry, drawing, storytelling, dance, creative writing and all forms of music. Projects from an ethnic arts perspective are particularly encouraged. This year they are especially seeking artists with expertise in all forms of music who are willing to do 12-hour projects in the classroom.

They are also recruiting individuals and groups for the assemblies and lecture program who are willing to share their talents and knowledge with students, elementary through high school. Performers from a variety of ethnic backgrounds who can provide interactive experiences for the children are urged to apply. Fees will be negotiated.

For more information and an application, please call Susan Swanson at the Cultural Council for Monterey County at 622-9060. Applications must be postmarked by May 22, 1995.

Local OK City Tribute

"You Never Knew Our Faces" is a tribute to the courage and faith of a city rebuilding its dreams. The message of the music is "No one can ever stop the heartbeat of our land - for love is ever stronger than hate can ever be!"

These words were written by Barbara Lutz, a Carmel Valley composer who was moved by the events in Oklahoma City which rocked our nation. So universal is her message that the words can clearly be applied to any disaster created as a result of man's inhumanity to man.

The musicians and vocalists who supported this effort joined enthusiastically to donate their time and talent to the production of this song.

All profits of the sales will go directly to the Children's Scholarship Fund of Oklahoma City to create an endowment fund to facilitate the healing and education of surviving children whose family

BB and BBQ...Now that the Strange Light in the sky has revealed itself as the sun long absent during this grumpy spring, we can plan ahead for the Traditional CVLL Fourth of July Barbecue and Baseball Bonanza. Your Little League Board, meeting in secret conclave at 2:02 a.m. in an earwig-filled back room, deviated the following temporarily permanent schedule--rather like the original game schedule--for the Great Day.

Baseball begins at 8:30 a.m. on Benny Field with the Single A All Stars, followed at 10:30 by the T-ball All Stars (now THAT is a game to watch!). At 1:30, following the Solemn Ceremonies, the 9-10 All Stars will take on a team from Carmel, and following them to the plate at 3:30 or thereabouts will march the 11-12 All Stars, also battling a team from Carmel. (Smart of the Carmel folks to escape to the sunshine, wot?)

Meanwhile, over on Shakal Field, the Double A All Stars play at 9:30, with softball at 1:00 and the Big Fellers from Pony knocking 'em into the river at 3:30.

As if all that baseball were not enough, we'll also anticipate the raffle for the Neon at about 5:00, as well as various trophies and awards presented at appropriate intervals.

Big Horses on the Ponies...While we thawed out after the last Pony League game at Middle School--home of NASA Sub-Arctic Wind Tunnel Research--we took the liberty to ask the managers for names of a few outstanding players. We are delighted to share those thoughts with you.

For the A's, managed by Dan O'Sullivan and coached by Keith Rede: Jesse Kovacs for pitching and hitting; Matt Grugel for general excellence; Sean O'Sullivan for reliable hitting and steady pitching; and very special mention to Tyler ("Legless Joe Jackson") Wood, broken up a bit recently, whose loss to the team has been deeply felt. We should also like to make mention of Joseph Kovacs, who received the first annual Most Valuable Parent Award. Runner-up in a very close vote was Tom Richards of the Yankees.

For the Dodgers, managed by Tom Green and coached by Russ Campbell: Tom was reluctant to single out any one player, as he feels he has a well-balanced team this year. However, he did mention Matt Bedell as an outstanding player; Austin Guest, Seth Perkins, Mike Scardina, Craig Gonzales, and Robert Green, all worthy of recognition for fine play.

When we caught up with manager Jim Cook and coach Vince Carr of the Giants, they were happy to praise the following players: Chris Cook, Brian Boitano, and Joe Carr, all for fine all-around play; and Trevor Fogg, not only a fine player, but our Pony League Weather Mascot.

We put the chomp on coach Bob Allen between toothpicks, and he shared with us that he and manager Ed Canadas of the Mets would certainly have to mention Dane Edmondson for pitching; Eddie Canadas for excellent switch-hitting; Steve Moore as a pitcher; and certainly Spencer Reade at short-stop.

Fortunately, we didn't have to go all the way to the Windy City to nail down some names for the White Sox, but Mike Foudy, along with his coach, Terry McGowan, unhesitatingly pointed out Zubin Eggleston as a fine third baseman; Justin DeMayo, singled out as an up and coming in-fielder; Jeff McGowan as a "solid first baseman"; and Will Ross, who got the nod for fine pitching and great improvement. As a nice touch, Mike also credited as a key to team success a cadre of supportive parents: Ed Gibson, Clyde Ross, Bob Eggleston, and that real brick, Mike Mahoney.

As for those pin-striped Yankees, manager Gary Higuera and coach David Drewien, shouting through the fringe fur of their Scott Expedition parkas, wished to highlight Powerhouse PeeWee Pat Greco behind the plate; Jud Richards for hitting and pitching; Gary Higuera for consistent hitting; Justin Noseworthy, dependable at the plate and throwing toward it; and Jon Lyon, steady pitching, improved hitting, and a cannon arm at short.

The League of Perpetual Unpredictability...If you like thrills, chills, and spills, come on down to watch a Double A game or two. These folks put on a really good show, and they deserve a tremendous amount of support. Matt Williams and Ken Griffey, jr., once played like this--and whaddya know, you may catch a Pete O'Brien or Pete Incaviglia or Rich Aldrete temporarily disguised as a munchin' right here on Benny or Shakal Field. So let's mention a few of those who labor valiantly in the shadow of the majors, hoping Next Year to cast a bit of a shadow themselves.

For the Braves: manager

Jamie Warren and coach Ty Seeders singled out Ross Farley for pitching and power; Natasha Buffo for excellent play; Jered Chapple for fine play; and Colby Grewel for all-

FUN IN THE SUN

Dave Lyon

Hey, if its June, it must be sunny out, right? Never mind what you see in the sky or what you think you see in the sky; just keep saying to yourself "it's really summertime, it's really summertime..." If we all do this for long enough, maybe the idea will get through to the powers above...

or...settle for the view down under! The first of the season's SCUBA classes is now forming at the Community Center. Why brave the flesh-eating sea otters and iceberg infested waters of the Monterey Bay? Learn to scuba dive in your own back yard...at the (heated) Community Pool!

Your class fee includes everything you need to become completely scuba certified: wet suit, mask, fins, all book and test material, even that all-important tank of air to breathe while underwater. Classes are open to all persons age 12 and older, and are held in the evening hours at the Community Center. Don't delay...class size is limited and enrollment is taken on a first come, first served basis only. Call the CVCYC office at 659-3983 for complete info on this very exciting class.

Hey...even more exciting stuff happening down at the pool...if coral-dancing isn't your thing, how about a game of water polo? Yes, for the first time here in Carmel Valley, your Community Center is pleased to be offering a class in the exciting sport of water polo; no pony required. Coach Rick Simms sez "water polo is a great aqua-aerobic workout and an even better way to check out your friends and neighbors in a bathing suit." This class is now in the planning stage and a date and time has not yet been established. Call the office for details and a complete update.

For Valley residents wishing to fling themselves through the air and probably land in the pool, this month marks the return of last season's very popular spring-board diving class, held in the early evening hours at the Community Pool. Persons bouncing high enough may even get a glimpse of the sunset. Several classes will be offered covering all aspects of diving, from beginning through that really advanced stuff like triple flips and reverse somersaults. Intermediate bellyflopping will also be demonstrated for a slightly higher fee. Classes are now forming. Call for complete details.

A reminder that the Community Pool will go to full-time operations the second weekend this month, with swim classes for the kids starting on Monday, June 19. And this just in from the front desk...all swim lesson slots in the first session are now filled, with the other sessions filling rapidly. Still time to get your little tadpoles enrolled in one of these very popular classes. But don't delay; call the CVCYC office Monday through Friday 9-5, or the pool at 659-2606 on weekends from noon until 5 p.m.

And yes...as all you Memorial Day worshippers out there discovered last weekend, the pool is now open Saturdays and Sundays, sunshine permitting, for all your early summer swimming and tanning needs. While you're at the pool, sign the kids, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles up for a family swim pass, good for the whole gang for the entire swim season. The next 10 families to buy a pass will get free run of the snack bar for the month of June. (Well, okay...maybe not) but Coach Di promises that the poolside munchy supply will be bigger and better than ever this year.

Watch this space for exciting details about an upcoming Carmel Valley Aquatics-sponsored BBQ, pool party and dance. Come on out and show your support for this very talented group of valley youngsters, as they embark on another great season.

The 3rd annual CVCYC giant flea market will be held on Saturday, July 29th at the upper parking lot at Carmel Middle School. The time is drawing nigh and the junk is piling high. Plan now to reserve yourself a space at this very popular flea market and sell some of those attic treasures to your friends and neighbors. Or...plan to attend and see what those folds down the street are trying to sell. Antique dealers and all craft persons are welcome. Call the office and reserve your spot today.

VALLEY VOICE

I was reflecting on my first winter in Carmel Valley.

After 18 years of heat and humidity in Florida, living on air conditioning ten months of each year, I longed to breathe fresh air.

Thus, in the dead of winter, I would put on my warmest jacket, bring along a blanket and settle in to read on my deck. The luxury of being outside, looking into a blue sky, being serenaded by birds—I felt as though I had died and gone to heaven.

These afternoon episodes usually included a short but peaceful nap. They generally concluded as the sun dipped in the western sky and the chill became more pronounced.

This passion for fresh air continued during the evening. I would often go out on the deck to look at the stars. What an incredible sight. You need to remember that the sodium vapor lights in Miami have such powerful illumination (as a deterrent to crime) that one has to drive almost to the edge of the Everglades before the sky is dark enough to see stars.

One evening in February, I was working at my desk when I heard a noise which was different. It sounded like running water. I went out on the deck and heard the Carmel River for the first time. It was too dark on my property to attempt to get close to the river, so I had to wait for morning. I hurried down my path and there it was. The smallest stream I had ever seen, but it was better than dry rocks. As the days went by and the water increased, the sound of the river became more impressive. Soon the frogs began croaking.

My zeal for fresh air continued into the night as I slept with the window open. There were nights when the chorus from the frogs was so loud, I had to shut the window.

While this winter has brought us many challenges, it has also given us special rewards. The river still runs strong in must reaches. The frog chorus has been absolutely deafening. Poppies proliferate everywhere. The birds are singing like never before. Everything is green—except for the sycamores which all look sick.

My passion for fresh air remains. During my morning walks on Carmel Valley Road, I still look up at our blue sky, breathe deeply the crisp air, greet the morning sun and wave to some of my friends as they drive to work.

One of my friends from Miami came for a visit a few years ago and stayed in Monterey in the wharf area. After two nights, she checked out of her hotel and found a room in the valley. It seems her room didn't have air conditioning, got too stuffy with the windows closed and was too noisy due to barking seals/sea lions. When I told her we didn't have air conditioning in our buildings, you'd have thought we were some third world country! It's a good thing she didn't visit during winter. I'm confident our frogs would have kept her up all night.

FLOODS AND STRESS

By Dr. Ann Flood

The recent floods in our Garden of Eden have left many people shocked, devastated and, in some cases, homeless. There has been an outpouring of help from the community and various agencies for anyone in need. Although many fortunate residents have been left seemingly unscathed, countless others have been directly affected by the recent traumatic events. Losses to residents of Carmel Hacienda, Mission Fields, Carmel Valley Village, Castroville, the Salinas Valley and other areas have been well documented in local and national news.

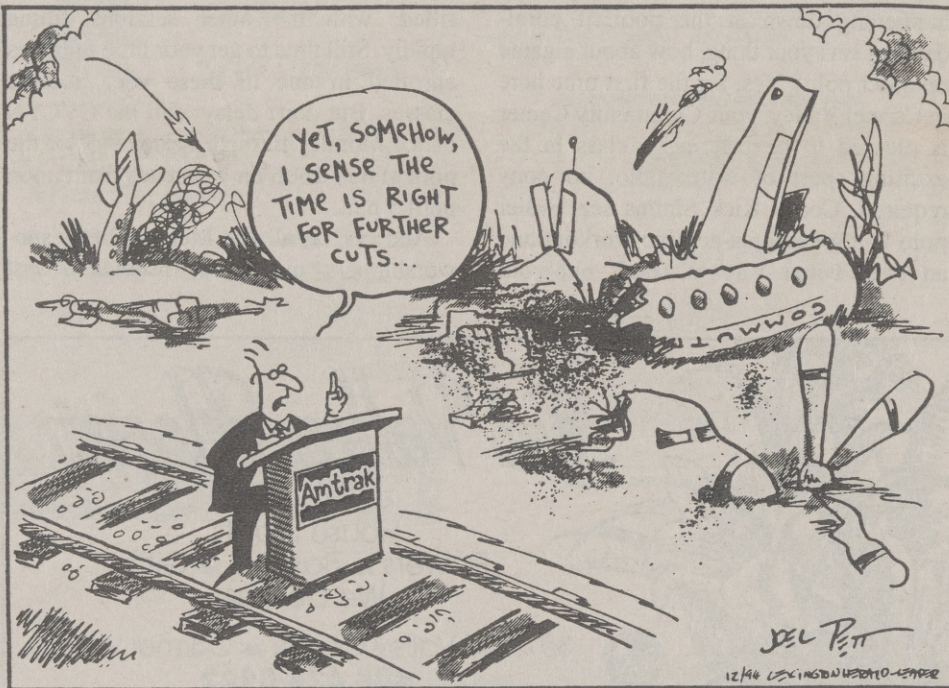

As in all disasters, some people are more at-risk for severe emotional distress than others. Children, the elderly and physically and/or mentally dependent persons are especially vulnerable to the adverse psychological effects of a disaster. These people often need special care and attention in order to recover from the trauma and regain their sense of security, safety and control in their lives.

Although you might not realize it at first, this type of stress may affect you or your family in various ways. Stress is often expressed in the form of anger, irritability, tearfulness (easy to cry), increased or new fears, tiredness and fatigue, poor concentration (for example, in school children), changes in social behavior (fighting, withdrawal from usual activities and friends), mood swings (from being hyper at one moment to being sullen and having low feelings the next), clinging, neediness, physical symptoms (headaches, stomachaches, unusual pain, etc.), changes in appetite (increase or decrease), nightmares and difficulty sleeping.

Such reactions may vary from mild to severe and may range from a mild disorder to a diagnosis of post traumatic stress disorder. If you believe that you or your family are suffering from severe symptoms of stress or from depression, you should consider seeking professional help.

Next week, in part 2, I will discuss the intensity and duration of the reactions to stress.

After we had spoken with the Braves, we trotted over to the Red Sox dugout to garner info from coach Tim Scherer and manager Jim ("Just call me T-ball Jim") Saxton, who seems to have a kid on every team in the central coast. We thought it prudent to beard Jim (so to speak) in the dugout rather than wait for him not to return our calls, and he told us that he would highlight David Thomas, Traverses Gere, a kid by the name of Erik "Withakay" Saxton, and the youngest hustler around, one tough hombre named Matt Rankin.

A quick call to Board Member and manager Rick Smith of the Sharks gave us something else to get our teeth into. Rick and coach Howard Rosen (another Board member—is this some sort of Inside Job?) were delighted to heap kudos upon Jesse Armstrong, Jack Britton (who never waives the rules); Chris Smith, Jeffrey Steinberg, and a great hitter, Kevin Walter. And while we have your attention, please pay that attention to Bruce Britton the assistant coach, and most particularly to Dick McGonigal, a devoted master supporter of twilight ball.

When it came to the Rangers, we felt it incumbent upon us to plunge directly into the Gene pool and ask manager Rusty Vandervort whom he would like to praise. Temporarily unable to find a stray Vandervort or two lying around at the Double A level, Rusty was still kind enough to mention not only his loyal coaches Doug Britton and Mike Barber, but also the following brightening stars: Todd Grice, Renold Heiland, Brent Thomson (who hyphenates with Vandervort—the Gene pool deepens—and Joey Newsome, who has not only shown great improvement, but also sold fourteen cases of your dentist's favorite candy to support CVLL. Thanks, Toothless Joe.

Not to make judgments, but Mike Field's legal Eagles must soar as outstanding birds of praise in the next column. It is most judicious to give them special recognition. Watch this space.

Sky pill...Since the unnamed volunteer fire department has not yet painted ball stitches on the otherwise ugly satellite antenna to support the scrappy Volunteers, our First Annual Contest to Name the Inedible, Undigestible Local Dish is still open. We have received some excellent entries so far. Three (printable) suggestions: a Happy Face, a Prozac pill, and a combination of the two. An unconfirmed rumor has it that the Michigan Militia might like to do it up in camo. This column does not endorse playing that kind of hardball here in paradise. Disqualified.

A brochure to tell the world Monterey County is still here

As part of the effort to mitigate the effects of the media coverage of the 100-year floods in March, the Monterey County Travel/Tourism Alliance rushed out a spring calendar laden with colorful photography representing the wealth of tourism resources on the Monterey Peninsula.

The brochure, published in mid-April is titled, Monterey County: The Coast is Clear and touches on tourism resources from North County, Moss Landing and Elkhorn Slough to the Monterey Peninsula, Wine Country, Big Sur and South County. All of the visitor service agencies in Monterey County are represented as resources for visitors.

The map-fold brochure includes 28 full color photographs and was edited and art directed by Jonathan Drake of Media Management Associates of Carmel and printed by Ryan Ranch Printers of Monterey.

Hospitality related businesses from the Monterey Bay Aquarium to the Highlands Inn, Rancho Canada Golf Course and many others have been mailing out the Monterey County: The Coast is Clear brochures with their in-house promotional mailings. Businesses who can use the Monterey County: The Coast is Clear brochures along with their promotions are encouraged to call the Monterey County Travel/Tourism Alliance at 408-626-1424.

REAL ESTATE Rand Smith

THE HORRORS OF SELLING A HOME

Many factors can prevent transactions from going smoothly.

If owning a home is truly the American dream, why are there so many horror stories from people who have recently gone through the process of buying this treasured possession?

If you haven't bought or sold a property in the last several years, just ask someone who has. Did everything go as planned? Was it a smooth move? Did the sale close on time? Or were there a few glitches, last minute changes, late night calls, hurried trips with some document or other that needed to be somewhere that you weren't?

I often hear a remark from a frustrated client, somewhere along the escrow that goes like this: "You know, I've bought and sold several homes in my life, and I can't remember it ever being like this!"

The truth is that the changing laws and changing market have taken a toll on this industry's central nervous system. 5 to 8 page contracts, 2 to 5 page disclosure forms, tax and client status forms, toxic, flood and earthquake forms and booklets, counter offers, addendums, tightened lender requirements and verifications, are just a few "innovations" in escrow today. One recent transaction nearly collapsed when the seller couldn't believe the enormous cost to repair a redwood deck, because the price of redwood had skyrocketed due to the spotted owl!

To appreciate the stress factor, consider what an "escrow" is. It is the limbo state a real estate transaction must go through so that 17 to 50 unrelated events performed by as many or more unrelated parties with unrelated agendas, goals and bills, work simultaneously to get done whatever they have to do to assist in closing the sale and getting paid. None of the contracts have anything to do with the other, but are all tied up with your agreement to purchase.

The repair person, the termite clearance, the lender, the appraiser, the insurance agent, the title officer, the moving company, the county recorder, your agent, the other agent and their respective brokers all must do things, and in turn rely on other parties outside their influence to do things that will effect the transfer of this property. And of course, there are the buyers' and sellers' wishes and desires to contend with, which often conflict.

"He wants to move in on Saturday, but she can't be out until Monday and that's his son's birthday, and we won't have formal loan approval until Thursday anyway, so we can't make a definite decision until then..."

It might help to anticipate what could go wrong, thereby avoiding some of the pitfalls. But honestly, there are so many things that could happen, it's impossible to know which one might strike. Think about planning a wedding; rarely do they go without a hitch. But you can categorize the most common problems and recognize the troubled areas. In my experience, most headaches can be boiled down to 1 of 4 reasons.

Number 1: The loan process. By far the most common source of problems. They usually boil down to not enough information on the buyer. They also can be attributed to interest rate changes, conservative and underwriting requirements, lender required repairs on the property, or just unrealistic time frames on obtaining the proper documentation.

Number 2: Incomplete repairs. Often this happens because the seller didn't have inspections done prior to the sale. When the bills finally add up, they can have devastating consequences to the seller's bottom line, even affecting their ability to sell.

Number 3: A non-motivated principle. The reality is if one party is not committed to the sale, they can play havoc on the party that is. A buyer who feels they can go around the corner and get a better deal can create just as much misery as a seller who refuses to accept routine requests, such as leaving the living room drapes.

Number 4: Inter-agent conflicts. Unfortunately, this is too common in our industry. When the agents representing the principles are at each others' throats, they are not necessarily representing the best interest of their clients. This situation occurs usually when an agent is either overzealous on their client's representation, or conversely, is oblivious to what is going on.

Is there any way you can completely protect yourself from the potential nightmares that too often haunt this otherwise exciting event? Probably not, but hopefully you can adjust your way of thinking to make it less painful, or at the very least, try a glass of warm milk before bed every night until the closing.

REAL ESTATE REPORT

Carol Jensen Root

The following real estate sales were reported for the period of April 23 through April 29, 1995.

Pebble Beach

John and Barbara Davi sold to Jack and Hiroko Jones 2884 Sloat Road on April 25 for $455,000.

Kenneth and Mary Allen sold to Alan and Pauline Edgar 1019 Vaquero Road on April 26 for $995,000.

David and Dolly Keyston sold to Dee Howe 3281 Ondulado Road on April 26 for $1,401,500.

Q and A on special districts

Q: How is the special tax reflected on the real property records?

A: The special tax is a lien on your property, essentially like a regular tax lien. The lien is recorded as a "Notice of Special Tax Lien" which is a continuing lien to secure each levy of the special tax.

Q: Are the assessments included within the Proposition 13 tax limits?

A: No. The passage of Prop 13 in 1978 severely restricted local government in its ability to finance public capital facilities and services by increasing real property taxes. The "Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982" provided local government with an additional financing tool. The Prop 13 tax limits are on the value of the real property, while Mello-Roos taxes are equally and uniformly applied to all properties.

Carmel

Roderic and Laurie Tokubo sold to Sharon Tamagni 24682 Guadalupe Street on April 26 for $429,000.

William Beckett III sold to Glenn and Katherine Uyeda Condingley 26335 Rio Road on April 26 for $715,000.

Carmel Valley

Barry and Sharon McMills sold to David and Judy Fisher 25440 Carmel Knolls Drive on April 27 for $325,000.

Free Advice about Summer Camps

In just a month or so, children and teenagers across the country will exchange school books for backpacks and classrooms for campfires as summer camp, 1995, gets underway. In all, nearly five million youngsters will learn new skills, build self-esteem, meet new friends and make lasting memories at America's day and resident camps.

"Camp is for everyone," says John Jeffrey of the Northern California Section of the American Camping Association. "It's a great place for children to unlock their potential and discover the world."

Child and youth development professionals agree. Dr. Peter Scales, deputy director of the National Center for Early Adolescence, cites camp as one of the few institutions that provides all seven of the recognized developmental needs of children. These include positive social interaction with adults and peers; structure and clear limits; physical activity; creative expression; competence and achievement; meaningful participation in families, school and communities; and self-definition.

Parents should consider if their child would be more comfortable at a day camp—when kids return home in the evening—or if the youngster would flourish at a sleep-over (resident) camp.

The ACA's Northern California Section offers a free directory of day and resident camps in its area. Copies may be requested by calling 800-362-2236.
